That's life!

Are you really sisters?

Two sisters means twice the work!*1. JELENET

Alice (egy másik szobából beszél): Good morning. Oh, thank you! (Belép a konyhába, ahol Anne reggelizik.) Anne, there's a telegram for you!

Anne: Oh, for me? I wonder who it's from... (Kezében tartva a táviratot.) Oh, it's from Italy...

Alice: Come on, Anne, tell me who it is from... You know I'm dying of curiosity!

Anne (a táviratot olvasva): It's from my sister Kimberly... She says she's coming to visit me. She's arriving on Thursday.

Alice: Today is Thursday!

Anne: Oh, my God. It is! What... Oh... What, now I... I have to tidy up and do the shopping (körbenéz) and... The house needs a good cleaning as well!

Alice: Slow down, and calm down, Anne! We've got time... So who is older, you or your sister?

Anne: I am.

Alice: And are you similar or different?

Anne: Well... We're quite different... She's shorter than I am and she's got blue eyes.

(Jack megérkezik.)

Jack: Hey, what are you talking about?

Alice: About Anne's sister, Kimberly... She's arriving this afternoon.

Jack: Great! I can't wait to meet her. Is she as cute as you, Anne?

Anne: Stop being silly, Jack! You're the biggest joker I know... I have to get going now... Remember, don't leave the house in a mess! (Kimegy.)

Alice: Is that all she thinks about when someone is coming? Cleaning, vacuuming, tidying up and dusting? Do you think Kimberly is worse than Anne? If so, we're going to have a lot of work to do!

Jack: That's right! Two sisters means twice the work!

3 Anne is getting .....
(egyre aggodobb)

4 Kimberly is .....
(sokkal kiphentebb)

You two are completely different!

2. JELENET

Jack: Hi Anne. So you must be Kimberly... It's a pleasure. I'm Jack!

Kimberly: Hello, Jack, Anne has told me so much about you!

Alice: Hi, I'm Alice. You live in Rome, don't you? So, how is life in "bella" Italy?

Kimberly: Wonderful! My father raised me in America, though, but Italy is the most fascinating country in the world, as far as I'm concerned! Its history, the art... And, of course, the best food in the world! What else can anyone ask for? And, of course, the Italians are the most likeable people in the world!

Jack: You are 100% right! Just look at me... I'm originally from Bologna, which is one of the best cities in the world when it comes to eating well!

Kimberly: I know Bologna well. It's a beautiful city, even if I do prefer Rome. Rome is much bigger and more exciting. So, how does London compare?

Alice: London isn't that bad... Apart from the weather... It certainly is much colder than in Italy!

Jack: And the British are... Well... How should I say this? They're... Less clever than the Italians!

Kimberly: Watch yourself, Jack! Watch what you're saying...

Anne: Yes! You know Kimberly and I are both British! Well, I'm more British than she is...

Jack: You're right! Well... I was talking about British men, of course.

(Megérkezik Sharon és Peter.)

Anne: Kimberly, this is Peter and Sharon. They live in the apartment next door.

Kimberly: It's a pleasure to meet you!

Sharon: So, Kimberly, Anne told us that you're attending Art School in Rome... You know, I wanted to study art when I was a little girl... But in the end, I decided to study archaeology, instead.

Kimberly: That's interesting! And Peter, what do you do?

Peter: I'm an actor... And I do a little singing... I'm acting in a musical at the moment.

Kimberly: What a great career!

Anne: Yes, but it's certainly less stressful than Jack's line of work... He works a lot harder than Peter... Actually, he's the hardest working person in the house!

Alice: And I'm the person that has the most fun!

Kimberly: Speaking of fun, what shall we do this evening? I would love to go out! It's been so long since I last came to London!

Anne: Well, why don't we go to the cinema?

Kimberly: Come on, Anne, that's so boring! Why don't we do something more exciting? I don't know... We could go to the pub and get something to eat... And, and after that, why don't we go to a disco?

Alice: Wow, what a surprise! You two are completely different!

That's life! One of those days

You've been in there for over an hour!

1. JELENET

Jack (a fürdő ajtaján kopog): Have you finished yet? Alice?!

Alice (az ajtó mögül): No Jack, I haven't finished my shower! Could you ask Anne to come in here, please?

Jack: She's just left! Come on, I am pleading with you, Alice. I'm late!

Alice (kinyitva az ajtót): Okay, okay, I've finished. Calm down, the bathroom's all yours!

Jack: Finally! You've been in there for over an hour!

(Csörög Jack telefonja.)

Jack: Yes... Yes, this is Jack. No, I haven't seen John since yesterday. Why? Oh, the report... Uhh... Yes. No, I haven't finished it yet. Yes, yes, I know it's important. Anyway, I've already started writing it... Yes, yes, I'll send it to you as soon as it's finished. Excuse me? Listen, I'll call you later. Okay. (Jack, miután befejezte a telefonálást, megpróbálja kinyitni a fürdő ajtaját, de észreveszi, hogy a fürdő ismét foglalt.)

Jack: Alice, if you don't open this door, I'm going to knock it down!

Kimberly: Actually, it's Kimberly, I've just come in... Is everything okay Jack?

Jack: Yes... No! I've been waiting to use the bathroom for over an hour! I must get to the office!

Kimberly (kinyitva az ajtót): Okay Jack, it's all yours! I'll use the bathroom later.

Jack: Thanks Kimberly, that's very kind of you... Sorry! (Jack belép a fürdőbe.)

(Nem sokkal később Alice megy oda Jack-hez, amikor az jön ki a fürdőből.)

Alice: Hey Jack, have you seen my watch? I've probably left it in there.

Jack: Here you go! Have you forgotten anything else?

Alice: We're rather nervous, today, aren't we?

Jack: Bye, I have to get going. (Elmegy.)

Alice: (Észreveszi, hogy Jack a fürdőben hagyta a mobilját) Hey Jack, wait! Jack, your mobile! (Kimberly-hez fordulva) Oh... He's already gone! So, what are you doing today Kimberly? Have you ever been to Portobello market?

Kimberly: No, I've never been there!

Alice: Would you like to come along and browse around the stands?

Kimberly: Oh, yes, it's been months since I last visited a flea market!

Jack: I'm a wreck! And I've lost my mobile!

Anne (odaadva neki): No, Alice told me you forgot it when you left the apartment this morning!

Jack: That's where it is! I've looked everywhere... I must admit I've been a little distracted lately... I guess I need some rest. You know, I haven't had a holiday since they transferred me to London!

Anne: Oh... Okay, well... Relax a little now... Kimberly is showing me some photos of a party they had at university last month. I've never seen such funny photos!

Jack (a fényképeket nézegetve): Hey, this is a picture of the Faculty of Economics... I've been there for a seminar!

Kimberly: Really?! When did you attend that?

Jack: Well, I was only there for four days, but it was really interesting!

(Megérkezik Alice.)

Alice: Hey guys, I've just got off the phone to Peter. And he wants to know if they can come over in a bit... He wants us to convince Sharon to move to Japan with him! She hasn't decided yet if she wants to go.

Kimberly: To Japan?! It's a great country! Have you ever been there?

Jack: No... And to tell you the truth I'm not really interested in going!

Alice: Why do you say that Jack? You're right, Kimberly, Japan is a fascinating country. I haven't been since 1995. Who knows what has changed since then?

Jack: Do you mind if I go to my room? Today was awful... I'm dead tired and I haven't had anything to eat! Please tell Sharon and Peter... Please give Sharon and Peter my regards. I'm really not in the mood to chat this evening!
(Elmegy.)

Television Programmes

Let's talk: The City of London

Eric: Hello and welcome to this week's edition of "Let's talk", the discussion programme with our commentators Tom and Marie.

Marie: Good evening everyone.

Tom: Good evening.

Eric: Tom you went to London last week, didn't you? You told me you had a meeting with an important businessman.

Tom: Yes, I did! I interviewed the chief executive of a major UK financial group. He works in the City.

Marie: So you visited the heart of international high finance, interesting.

Tom: Yes, it was interesting actually. You know, the City is very small but very important in the world of finance. I mean, did you know that the City of London, that's its full name, is just one square mile or 2.6 kilometres? And that only 7,000 people live there?

Eric: Really? So few people?

Tom: Yes, only 7,000 people live there but more than 320,000 people a day commute into the City to work there.

Eric: Wow, a third of a million commuters every day. Can we explain to our viewers just why this part of London is so important?

Tom: Of course! The City is a global financial centre with hundreds of banks, financial exchanges, insurance companies and investment companies. You know there are more than 500 companies in the City.

Marie: That's right! And it also has several important commodity markets. The City's the place to buy commodities such as oil, gold and silver. In the City people carry out all kinds of financial transactions, they borrow money, save money, invest money, buy and sell commodities, buy and sell insurance for all kinds of things, from oil tankers to skyscrapers!

Tom: Exactly Marie! Together with Tokyo and New York the City is one of the world's most important financial centres. It's situated between the time zones of Asia and America. In fact, offices in the City don't have just one clock, they have at least four, with clocks showing the time for Tokyo, Zurich and New York.

Eric: So the City's open for business 24 hours a day! Well, do only people from the world of finance work there?

Tom: No, no! Lots of other highly skilled people work there. For example many lawyers, accountants and computer experts work there. They help the banks and insurance companies to work smoothly.

Marie: It's worth remembering too that the City's a beautiful place to visit. It can be ultra-modern and medieval at the same time. There are some beautiful old buildings, especially the churches, and some innovative new buildings such as the Lloyd's insurance building and the Swiss Re Building, or the "gherkin" as it's now known.

Tom: But remember: don't visit the City at weekends! There's nobody there! And most of the shops and pubs are closed.

Eric: Thanks for that tip! Well, the City's the financial heart of the UK and perhaps of Europe. But it is also an interesting place to visit with many interesting buildings. Thanks to our commentators.

Marie: Goodbye.

Tom: Goodbye.

Eric: Goodbye everyone and see you again soon for a next interesting appointment with "Let's talk".

Let's talk: Migration

Eric: Good evening to all viewers and welcome to this week's edition of "Let's talk", our discussion programme with our expert commentators Tom and Marie.

Marie: Good evening Eric.

Tom: Good evening.

Eric: Well, according to the data from the latest European conference on migration the number of migrants arriving in Europe has increased enormously over the last five years. EU politicians are divided on this issue. Some of them believe that migration is a bad thing and causes lots of problems. On the other hand, other politicians maintain that migrants contribute to the developing of the economy. Could I ask what you think about this issues?

Marie: Well, in my opinion migrants don't help our economy. On the contrary they take jobs from local people and push down pay rates for both unskilled and skilled workers. In fact migrants are often paid less than the legal minimum wage.

Tom: I'm afraid I don't agree with you Marie. Many employers use immigration to plug labour shortages, for example in agriculture. Farmers employ thousands of Eastern European workers to pick their crops as they can't find local workers to do the work.

Eric: That's true. In addition there are low birth rates in most European countries, particularly in Spain and Italy. The economies of these countries need more workers, especially for difficult jobs that local people don't want to do.

Tom: Exactly! And it's important to remember that migrant workers contribute to the economy because they pay taxes.

Eric: Well, this only happens if migrants work legally! Unfortunately many migrants come into Europe illegally.

Marie: You're right Eric! They come in illegally and they often form an underclass that doesn't have access to healthcare and education. That's why they sometimes get involved in criminal activities. I think some immigration is ok, especially if the immigrants are asylum seekers or refugees who can't return to their home countries. Apart from this I think European governments should put a stop to immigration.

Eric: How do you suggest they do this?

Marie: Well, the EU should do more to help develop the economies of North and West Africa. This would help economic migrants, migrants who come to Europe to work, to stay at home, find a job and develop their local economies.

Tom: Come on Marie, today the world's a "global village". People have always moved around the world. Don't forget for example the millions of Europeans who migrated to North America at the beginning of the last century. They experienced the same problems that the Africans are experiencing today.

Eric: That's right Tom! Migration is as old as the human race. People have always moved to where it's possible to make a living. Maybe we should get used to the idea that our society is becoming more and more multiracial. Ok, this discussion has been very interesting but unfortunately it is time to say goodbye to Tom and Marie.

Marie: Goodbye Eric.

Tom: Goodbye.

Eric: Goodbye and see you again soon for our next installment of "Let's talk"!
