That's life!
What shall we do?

Let's go dancing!

1. JELENET

Peter: Well guys, why don't we go to the cinema tonight?

Anne: That's a great idea. What's on?

Peter: Well, there's the new film with Schwarzenegger. That should be good.

Alice: You're joking, right?

Peter: No, I'm not. What would you suggest?

Alice: How about going to the disco?

Peter: The disco? Are you crazy, Alice? That's not even music... That's simply noise!

Alice: Come on, Peter! It's Saturday night, we have to do something special... Something exciting! And going dancing is surely more exciting than going to the cinema...

Jack: I agree with Alice! Let's go dancing!

Anne: What about a third choice?

Peter: I guess Anne is right! Why don't we try to find a good compromise?

Alice: Come on, guys! How boring and old-fashioned you are!

Peter: ... And you are more frivolous than I am, Alice!

Jack: Come on guys! Don't argue now, please! Let's vote on it! Well, Alice and I want to go dancing. Peter and Anne don't... How about you, Sharon?

Sharon: I don't know... Well... The disco is probably more entertaining than the cinema...

Alice: Great! Okay, guys... Three against two... Let's go dancing!

(könnyebb)

4 Come on, like this is
(sokkal szórakoztatóbb)

Stop making stupid comparisons!

2. JELENET

Anne, Sharon és Alice készülődnek, szórakozni mennek.

Alice: Here's my party-hat! How do you like it?

Anne: You look great! I envy you! Hats really suit you!

Alice: Well, I envy your room, Anne. But with all this traffic how do you sleep?

Anne: Oh, I'm used to it.

Sharon: Which disco are we going to?

Alice: "Paradise". It's a new disco on King's Road... It's very nice!

Anne: Did Tom and you go there together?

Alice: Yes, we went last Saturday... We spent a nice night together...

Anne: Maybe I asked the wrong question. You don't like Tom, do you?

Alice: He's boring, very boring... Besides, he's an Aries! And he talks too much... Last night, for example, he showed me all the pictures of his holiday in the Alps. He talked for an hour about the mountains... But I hate the mountains!

Sharon: Why do you say that? The mountains are beautiful and spectacular.

Alice: I prefer the beach... It's more relaxing and entertaining!

Sharon: Oh, I don't know. I think the beach is more boring than the mountains.

Anne: Why do you say that?

Sharon: Well, think about it. Lying on the beach every day. It's much more interesting to be walking in the countryside.

Anne: Yes, but it's usually colder in the mountains. I think the beach is also more romantic.

Alice: Girls! Stop talking nonsense! How do I look?

Sharon: You look very pretty, Alice!

Alice: Thanks Sharon. But you look better than me.

Sharon: No, how can you say that? You are much more tanned than I am.

Alice: Yes, but you are in better shape.

Anne: And me? How do I look?

Sharon: You are very pretty too, Anne.

Anne: I'm sure I'm not nearly as beautiful as you!

Sharon: Come on, girls! Stop making stupid comparisons! Let's just say that we are all different...

(Jack érkezik karján két inggel).

Jack: Hey girls! Okay, are you ready? I need your advice... Which shirt is better, according to you?

Alice: The red one! It's much better than the blue one for a disco-night.

Jack: And you, Sharon? What do you think?

Sharon: Well, I think the red one is funnier, while the blue one is more professional... I prefer the blue one.

Jack: So, girls, which shirt should I put on?

Alice: I told you, the red one. With that one on you'll look more macho! Yes, macho, that's the right word!

Jack: Really? Macho? I like it! Okay, I'll put on the red shirt! Do you agree with Alice, Sharon? About being macho, I mean...

Sharon: Come on, Jack! It's late... The disco is waiting for us!

That's life!

A special present

I have no idea where I would like to go...

1. JELENET

Alice a barátjával, Tommal van és egy utazási katalógust nézegetnek.

Alice: So, Tom... Which do you think is the best?

Tom: Hmm, I think Prague is the most interesting.

Alice: Are you sure? I think Vienna is more exciting than Prague.

Tom: Yes, but it's certainly the most expensive tour.

Alice: It doesn't matter... My father is going to pay for everything! And what about Madrid? I think it's probably the most exciting...

Tom: Why do you say that?

Alice: Well... The night-life... I'm sure there are a lot of discos.

Tom: That's true, but it's certainly the hottest city.

Alice: You're a good friend, Tom, but... You're so boring! I don't really care about the weather... I just want to enjoy myself! This trip is my father's birthday present to me. I want to go to Europe's most interesting city, but also to the most special and the most entertaining one!

Tom: I see... Well, I think all three are interesting cities!

(Megérkezik Anne).

Anne: Hi guys, what are you doing?

Alice: My father is going to give me a trip for my birthday. So I'm choosing where I would like to go...

Anne: Oh, really? That's great! Are you going alone?

Alice: No, my father promised to come with me...

Anne: Well, do you already have an idea of where you want to go?

Alice: Not yet! I can't make up my mind between Vienna, Prague and Madrid... Tom was making some "precious" suggestions...

Tom: But she isn't taking my advice... As usual!

Anne: Well, I think Prague is probably the oldest city, but Vienna is the most interesting one. There are a lot of important meetings in Vienna, and lots of museums, too.

Alice: Well, Madrid also has a lot of museums. Do you agree with that?

Anne: Yes, that's true... But Madrid is certainly the hottest city!

Alice: Oh my God, Anne! You are like Tom! You both talk nonsense! I think you two should go out together... I think you would get on well...

Anne: Alice, what are you talking about? You're joking, right?

Alice: Well, not really! I think Tom is perfect for you, Anne...

Anne: Come on, Alice! Stop being foolish... You are embarrassing us!

Alice: Really? There's no need to be ashamed! Listen, I'm going to leave you two alone, now! So you can get to know each other better... Bye!

2. JELENET

Este van. Mindenki a szalonban van Anne házában.

Jack: Hey, Peter... Did you see the match yesterday evening?

Peter: Which match?

Jack: Which match? Ajax vs. Juventus.

Peter: Those teams are boring...

Jack: Excuse me, excuse me! Ajax is the best football club in the world!

Peter: I'm afraid I don't have a clue.

Jack: I know that only music matters... Anyway... In your opinion... Which is the best team?

Peter: I don't know! I heard Arsenal is the best one of all time. They've got the most aggressive players, the most important coach, the toughest goalkeeper.

Jack: Peter, Peter... You are so mistaken!

Peter: Okay, what's so great about Ajax?

Jack: First of all, their defence is superb. It's much more intelligent than Arsenal's. Still...

(Alice belép a nappaliba miközben telefonál).

Alice: No... But you promised me! You're always busy! No, I don't want to go anymore! Anyway, thanks daddy! Thanks for your present! You are the worst father in the world! Don't worry, I'm gonna have a great birthday, all the same! Yes, with my friends... They do love me! Bye!

Jack: Is everything okay, Alice?

Alice: No, nothing is okay! My father keeps on being the same...

Anne: Come on, Alice! Don't cry, please! Tell us what happened!

Alice: Well, you know... I told you... My father decided to give me a trip for my birthday... Well, he promised to come with me... And just now he told me that he can't anymore... Because he has some important work to do... As usual!

Sharon: Don't be angry with him! Even if he has something important to do, you can leave for your trip anyways!

Alice: No, I don't want to go anymore!

Jack: Well, don't worry Alice! We are going to give a big party for you. Isn't that true, guys?

Peter: Absolutely!

Anne: Of course!

Jack: You are the most brilliant, the smartest and the funniest roommate we've ever had! Even if sometimes you are a bit lazy... You need a special party!

Alice: Thanks a lot! You are the best friends in the world...

Cinema: Sundance Film Festival

Lucy: Good morning, good morning! Welcome to this week's edition of "Talk Cinema". Here in the studio with me is Sanjeev Gupta, our cinema expert. Good morning, Sanjeev.

Sanjeev: Good morning!

Lucy: Well Sanjeev, what are you talking about today?

Sanjeev: Today I want to talk about the Sundance Film Festival!

Lucy: Sounds interesting! I've heard of the Sundance Festival, what exactly is it?

Sanjeev: Well, to put it simply Sundance is a festival for independent films and people interested in them.

Lucy: Ok, can you explain what an "independent film" is?

Sanjeev: Independent films, sometimes they're called "indies", are films that don't come from the major Hollywood studios. They're produced and financed by the directors themselves and they're usually low-budget productions. But, of course this doesn't mean that they're appreciated less than normal commercial films.

Lucy: Of course! Independent films can be very interesting and often they deal with contemporary issues.

Sanjeev: Exactly! You can't compare independent films with Hollywood blockbusters! They're two completely different things! Well, Hollywood films are more spectacular. They're usually high-budget productions and the money comes from the Hollywood studios, not from the directors! There's more money to spend, so they can feature famous stars.

Lucy: There's another important difference here: Hollywood movies are distributed throughout the world. That's how they make so much money at the box office! Right Sanjeev?

Sanjeev: Right, Lucy! On the other hand, independent films generally win the praise of cinema critics but make less money at the box office.

Lucy: Ok, let's go back to the Sundance Film Festival!

Sanjeev: Well, this festival has nothing in common with the Oscars night in Los Angeles! But it is the most important film festival in the world for independent films. It's important because it promotes the work of many young directors.

Lucy: When did this festival start?

Sanjeev: Robert Redford organised the first festival 25 years ago. The festival takes its name from Sundance Kid, the character Robert Redford plays in the film "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid". Today the Sundance is divided into two sections. The main section is called the "American Competition" and is for American films and documentaries. The second section is the "World Cinema Competition" this is for all other films. You know Sundance is great fun. In addition to the films there are parties and concerts and also special meetings for film students!

Lucy: Well, the Sundance Festival sounds fun. It's smaller and younger than other film festivals... there aren't lots of Hollywood stars... the awards aren't as prestigious as the Oscars. But it's an important festival! Right Sanjeev?

Sanjeev: Right! And don't forget, it's great fun!

Lucy: Ok, thank you Sanjeev and goodbye.

Sanjeev: Goodbye.

Lucy: Goodbye and see you next week for another edition of "Talk Cinema"!

Let's talk: E-learning

Eric: Hello, welcome to this week's edition of "Let's talk", the Saturday evening debate with our commentators Tom and Marie.

Tom and Marie: Good evening.

Eric: Tonight I'd like to hear your thoughts about e-learning. You know when I was a teenager I hated school and studying, as you can imagine my exam results weren't very good so I couldn't go to university. Now I'd like to study philosophy and I'm thinking of taking a distance learning course using my computer and the Internet.

Marie: Well, e-learning, the "e" means "electronic" so "e-learning" is "electronic learning", this is a new and convenient way of studying. Many universities around the world now offer distance learning degree courses via the Internet. You can take a course from a university in England or in the States without leaving your home.

Tom: That's true, but you need to have a lot of motivation to take an e-learning course.

Eric: Why?

Tom: Well, good time management skills are very important for successful e-learning. You mustn't waste time, you must study a little every day! It isn't always easy, especially if you work!

Marie: Ok, e-learning courses can be more difficult, traditional courses can be better, but there are many advantages to studying for a degree at a distance.

Eric: What are these advantages? In fact let's talk about the advantages and the disadvantages of e-learning.

Marie: Ok, one advantage, you can study when you like and where you like.

Eric: I see, so it's a flexible way of learning?

Marie: Exactly! Another advantage is that e-learning gives people a second chance to take a university course, without giving up your job! You can study and work at the same time!

Tom: I'm sorry, Marie, I don't agree! When you work it can be very difficult to find time to study. Besides, students can feel lonely and isolated when they study by themselves.

Marie: Wait a minute, this is where the "e", the "electronic" part helps. There's lots of interaction with other students and course tutors. Some courses use virtual classrooms to teach small groups. You can see your tutor and other students on your computer screen. You can talk with them and use text chat or e-mail and discussion forums too. Today most courses includes study skills information on how to study well at a distance.

Tom: Ok, but some course materials can be really boring just like reading "books online" and some e-tutors are very inexperienced and don't know how to teach in this new way. And remember that drop out rates are high for e-learning courses.

Marie: Yes I agree with some of what you say but good multimedia course materials can be very stimulating as they use audio, images and text together to teach!

Eric: Ok, ok! I see that you both have strong opinions on this topic. This discussion is very interesting but I'm afraid we've run out of time! So, e-learning the new independent way of studying with advantages and disadvantages! My philosophy course? I'll have to think. So, goodbye to our commentators Marie and Tom.

Tom and Marie: Goodbye.

Eric: And goodbye to you and see you next time on our discussion group "Let's talk".
